PROFILE SUMMARY

I'm a recent graduate from Swinburne University, where I spent the last four years specialising in film production and finding my passion in the camera department. Over that time, I've worked across a wide range of projects, from low-budget, run-and-gun documentaries to short films, music videos and a feature. I love the challenge that every set brings and always see each job as a new chance to learn, grow, and stay curious.

I pride myself on being a dedicated and enthusiastic person who thrives in social and collaborative settings. I enjoy problem-solving, working at a fast pace and bringing good vibes to every team I'm part of.

After just completing Swinburne's Bachelor of Film and Television (Honours), I'm more excited than ever to keep building my skills and get hands-on experience on set.
